With over 4.9 million healthcare professional subscribers, HealthStream's SaaS-based platform has long been one of the most adopted workforce development platforms in healthcare. To facilitate innovation and growth of our ecosystem, HealthStream's new platform technology, hStream™, was launched nine months ago. Already, healthcare organizations representing over one million subscribers have upgraded to hStream. The hStream platform-as-a-service capabilities are facilitating new types of application and media partnerships to deliver valuable services and impactful content to our healthcare organization customers. Scott McQuigg will identify, grow, and develop new hStream content, applications, and partnerships.

Scott's career began as market President and Publisher of the Nashville Business Journal, which is part of the American City Business Journals. He then co-founded HealthLeaders, a leading media and research business focused on the business of healthcare. While serving as its CEO from 2000 to 2005, HealthLeaders won numerous awards and became a leading resource in the industry for healthcare executives. More recently, Scott served as CEO of GoNoodle, Inc., which he also co-founded. GoNoodle's interactive videos promote physical activity, active learning, and enhanced focus for kids, and are available online, and via mobile and connected TV apps. The transformational kids media and tech platform went viral as GoNoodle is now played by 14 million+ kids each month.

"Scott's previous experience as co-founder and CEO of HealthLeaders, Inc., an award-winning, market-leading resource for healthcare executives, demonstrated his inventiveness to produce, aggregate, and deliver valuable media and information resources, while the viral success of the GoNoodle platform, with over 14 million monthly users, shows a deep understanding of building a network effect," said Robert A. Frist, Jr., Chief Executive Officer, HealthStream. "The skills that were required to drive these successes will be instrumental to the growth and success of the hStream platform."

"HealthStream's new technology platform, hStream, is at the vanguard of everything new and exciting about professional development in healthcare," said Scott McQuigg, Senior Vice President, hStream Solutions, HealthStream. "I am thrilled to be joining HealthStream's Executive Team as I've witnessed the Company's growth, innovation, and strong commitment to improving the quality of healthcare over the years."
