

HealthStream Climbs the Ranks of the "Healthcare Informatics 100"

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jul 14, 2009 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- HealthStream, Inc. (NASDAQ: HSTM), a leading provider of learning and research solutions for the healthcare industry, today announced that it has been named to the 2009 "Healthcare Informatics 100," a list of the 100 leading global healthcare IT providers. HealthStream moved ahead seven spots from 2008 to rank #54 on the 2009 list.

The 16th annual listing, published in Healthcare Informatics, ranks both public and private healthcare IT companies based on the previous year's performance. HealthStream's 2008 revenues grew 17 percent over the previous year to $51.6 million. Concurrently in 2008, approximately 190,000 new subscribers were implemented to use the Company's learning platform, the HealthStream Learning Center(R), bringing the network of contracted users to approximately 1.9 million--or approximately 38 percent of the acute-care hospital market.

"Healthcare organizations continue to respond enthusiastically to HealthStream's learning and research solutions," said Robert A. Frist, Jr., chief executive officer, HealthStream. "Increasingly, our commitment to support the people that deliver care is resulting in positive outcomes for healthcare organizations and, most importantly, patients. We are very proud to be included in the Healthcare Informatics' annual listing for a second year."
